TROOPS CROWD THE PUBLIC STREETS

Of St. Petersburg and Take Possession of the Railroads.

ARREST WORKMEN LEADERS

Only by Use of Military Crews Has the Government Been Able to Move Trains—The Outlook is More Gloomy.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 22.—Since noon yesterday the troops have had possession of the streets, especially those in the industrial sections. The railroad stations are in possession of the military.

Wholesale arrests of the leaders of the workmen were made last night. It is reported that the police include in their captures the members of the second workmen's council. A third council, however, promptly took the place of the second.

Moscow is already cut off from St. Petersburg and with the provinces generally. There was no communication yesterday morning.

Martial law has been proclaimed at Warsaw. Soldiers are now running trains.

MEERSCHAUM PIPES.

A Test by Which to Tell the Genuine From the Spurious.

Once upon a time there was a man who spent eight of the best years of his life coloring a meerschaum pipe, only to find at the end of that period that he had been nursing a piece of "massakopfe" instead of the genuine "ecume de mer." The "massakopfe" is a composition made of the parings of genuine meerschaum and a mineral clay. The parings are triturated to a fine powder, boiled in water and molded into blocks, with or without the addition of clay. Each block is then cut into a bowl, but as it contracts considerably it must be left some time to dry. These bowls are distinguished from the genuine meerschaum by their greater specific gravity, but there is no absolutely certain test by which the real meerschaum can be told from the composition.

In forming a pipe from "ecume de mer" the silicate of magnesia is prepared for the operation by soaking in a composition of wax, oil and fats. The wax and oil absorbed by the meerschaum are the cause of the color produced by smoking. The heat of the burning tobacco causes the wax and fatty substances to pass through the stages of a dry distillation, and, becoming associated with the products of the distillation of the tobacco, they are diffused through the substances of the bowl, producing those gradations of tint which are so much prized. In some cases the bowls are artificially colored by dipping them, before being soaked in wax, in a solution of sulphate of iron, either alone or mixed with dragon's blood.

Good meerschaum is soft enough to be indented by the thumb nail. It yields readily to the knife, especially after having been wetted. There are various densities. Some kinds sink in water; others float on the surface. Those of medium density are preferred by the pipe maker, for the light varieties are porous and even cavernous. Many judges assume that the heavier kinds are spurious, but there is no absolute proof that such is the case. A negative test may be mentioned. The composition bowls never exhibit those little blemishes which result from the presence of foreign bodies in the natural meerschaum. Therefore if a blemish occur in a meerschaum bowl, which is very frequently the case, the genuineness of the bowl is rendered most probable. But as blemishes do not show until after the bowl has been used for some time the test is not of much value.—New York Press.

A Pertinent Question.

Senator Beveridge was describing a precocious little girl.

"She showed her precocity the other day," he said, "by a question that she asked me.

"I had said to her in the course of an examination in mental arithmetic:

"'How old would a person be who was born in 1861?'

"She smiled and asked:

"'Was the person a man or a woman?'"

SCORPIONS AND SPIDERS.

Points In Common Between These Loathsome Animals.

"Between the spiders and scorpions, those grayish, lobster-like foes of every living thing, which lurk in old walls and beneath the debris of ruins, silent, patient, giving the sting that kills and then sucking the victim's blood, there are points in common," writes F. G. Afialo, the traveler and writer of London. "This very habit of sucking blood is shared by them, for the scorpion does not tear its victim's flesh with pinchers, like a crayfish, but sucks the juices through a small and tubular mouth not unlike that of spiders. Both of them breathe through lung openings in the abdomen, and in each the number of legs is eight, not six, as in insects. The latter class, which form the food of the smaller spiders, are erroneously regarded as safe if they have wings to fly. Even in England there are spiders which run so swiftly and leap with such precision that, apart from the aid of webs, few but the largest insects are secure from their attacks. In Australia there are parachuting spiders which sail obliquely down from the tree tops, and these must be deadly to encounter. Let us give the spider its due. Even those who willingly concede its diligence grudge it the undeniable attribute of cleanliness.

"Few created animals are more loathsome than the scorpion. There is a graceful beauty in the deadliest snake, in the fierce tiger, even in the banded wasps and hornets, but in the scorpion there is nothing but foulness. The creature's bite varies in its results, possibly according to the condition of the scorpion itself, but more probably according to that of the person bitten. I know of one case of a man, an American, who was repeatedly bitten by scorpions without on any occasion suffering more than a few hours of discomfort. In Morocco I have seen lads handle scorpions without a sign of fear, letting them crawl on the palms of their hands, even laying them on their eyes, and all for a quarter of a dollar! I was told at the time that the skin of the open hand stretched tight gave the scorpion no purchase with which to get its weapons in play.

"What was, however, far more remarkable was the patent indifference with which a gang of Moorish masons went to work barefooted to pull down an old building in the full knowledge that every blow of their picks on the falling walls set fresh scorpions free to writhe over their feet and legs, for they were buried in the accumulating rubbish almost up to the knees. To their way of thinking the creature's reputation was more evil than its bite."

The Indian Pachofsha.

A pachofsha is a feast and a part of the incantation and superstitious ceremony conducted over the sick by the lower class of ignorant Indians.

When a man is thought to be sick enough to require the services of a doctor he is put into a hut, and for three days no one except the doctor sees him. The doctor goes into the woods and gathers herbs, from which he prepares a potion for the sick man and then keeps a lonely vigil with him. At the end of the third day, if the patient is not improved, the order is given to prepare a pachofsha. Corn and meat, either beef, pork or game, are put in a large kettle and stewed until the corn is soft.

All the relatives of the sick man are entitled to attend, and they gather around the kettle for the feast. The sick man is brought out and served first. He is fed as much as his stomach can hold, and the others then turn in and devour the remainder of the stew. When this is concluded a bonfire is built and lighted, and the crowd circles around and dances to the time of a weird chant. After this, if the sick man does not show signs of getting better, nothing more is done for him, and he dies or gets well by act of Providence.—Oklahoma Times-Journal.

Loyal to His Friends.

John A. Sutter, on whose land gold was first discovered in California in 1848, was always loyal to his friends. "During the winter of 1872 Sacramento was a marsh, and drainage ditches had just been dug," says Thomas E. Farish's "Gold Hunters of California." "One evening Sutter and a friend had been indulging a little too freely in the cup, and they were taking a stroll before retiring for the night, when the friend inadvertently fell into one of the newly dug canals. 'I cannot pull you out,' said Sutter regretfully as he looked down at his less lucky friend, 'but I can come down and sit with you.' And he did."

NEW METHODS FOR NATURALIZATION

Are Recommended by Committee in Its Report to Congress.

WILL GUARD AGAINST FRAUDS

Various Safeguards Will be Proposed. Prohibit Naturalization Only on Certain Times—Cost of Work to be Paid by Subjects.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—The report of the Naturalization Committee is out, and recommends a uniform certificate of naturalization, and a bureau to have charge.

Half of the fees for naturalization shall be turned into the treasury, thus producing a revenue of more than double the cost of the work. No one will be admitted to citizenship that does not propose to reside here permanently, and who does not know English.

No naturalization will be conferred within thirty days preceding a Presidential election. The fee will be $7.

MODERN FOOTBALL.

It Comes From the Florentines, Who Got It From Greece.

Did modern football, the Rugby game, travel to England from the Italy of the renaissance and does its history reach back to ancient Greece? A recent writer says: "Probably not more than a few votaries of Rugby football are aware that we have to thank Florentine athletes for the invention of the game and for its introduction into Great Britain. Rugby school was founded somewhere about 1567. It was one of the direct results of what has been called the Florentine or Tuscan fever in England, which set in late in the Italian renaissance. Not only did men of letters come over and settle in England's centers of learning and create others, but many Florentines versed in the theory and practice of polite culture came as well. The game of il calcio came to Florence by way of Greece. Something of the sort had figured among the less important games at Olympia. The principal Florentine ground was the Piazza di Santa Croce, where upon the wall of the Palazzo Giulio Parrigi is still to be seen the disk from which the line dividing the ground was drawn across the open square. The ball was of leather, containing an inflated bladder, and apparently was the exact size, weight and shape of the Rugby ball of today.

"Il calcio consisted of a friendly contest between two equal sides of players called schiera azzura and schiera rossa—blues and reds. The number of players varied according to the size of the ground or the importance of the encounter. In the Piazza di Santa Croce the sides were twenty to twenty-seven strong, while on the public open sports ground at Peretola they totaled as many as sixty each. Originally the players were required to be of noble or gentle blood or such as had gained distinction and rank in the profession of arms. Each man had to be of unblemished reputation and of graceful figure and possessed of accomplished manners.

"In addition to the actual players were presidents, standard bearers, judges, an umpire, pages and other officials, all 'without reproach, worthy of the city and courteous in manner.' The costumes of the players were tight fitting drawers and tunics of silk, with feathered caps, all richly embroidered in gold and silver. Leather shoes were worn. The teams were divided into four classes; Forwards, whose places were near the dividing line and whose work was to keep the ball in play; halfbacks, stationed behind the forwards, in order to return the ball to play; three-quarter backs, who were strong kickers and played straight on the ball, and goal keepers, placed at the flags, or boundary, to stop the ball passing."

His Job.

"What's Stevens doing now?"

"Nothing."

"But I was told he was holding a government position."

"He is."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

GERMANY'S BLACK LETTER.

Comparison of Texts Used In Printing In the Fatherland.

"It is remarkable that so practical a people as the Germans should continue to use their blind black letter," says Jerome Hart. "The German text is ugly, and when printed from small type on dingy paper with high speed presses, as is the case with most daily newspapers, it is difficult to decipher. Ever since the days of Cadmus alphabets have been designed to convey ideas, and those alphabets which transfer thought with the most quickness, clearness and precision are the best. Considered from these standpoints the German alphabet is one of the worst. That it is a failure is shown unconsciously in many ways. Advertisers, for example, have no sentiment about them. They want to reach the reader and reach him quickly. Therefore nearly all the display advertisements in German newspapers are printed in Latin characters.

"So, too, with the commercial and financial pages. Stockbrokers and merchants have no time to waste in deciphering badly printed German text. Therefore the commercial page in the German dailies is now nearly always set up in Roman type. Circus advertisements, theater placards and advertising posters generally, the names of streets on the corner signs, the lettering on cars and omnibuses, even temporary signs, such as 'No Thoroughfare' or 'Street Closed,' you nearly always see in Latin characters.

"Another proof of the inferiority of the German text is the fact that nearly all German scientific works are printed in Roman. This has been the case for years, but it has had little effect on the printing of books of a general nature. Bismarck did much to retard this needed improvement, for he clung stubbornly to the German text and frequently sent back books which were printed in Roman, refusing to read them."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

FLOUR IN CHINA.

There It Is Made of Almost Everything Except Wheat.

The Chinese cook stuck the end of an ivory chopstick into a small brown biscuit.

"Taste, sir," he said.

The biscuit was warm, crisp, rich; it was light, well salted, nutritious—a biscuit, in a word, of peculiar excellence.

"This biscuit, sir, is made of flour of lentils," said the Chinaman. "You know lentils? Little green pellets slightly flattened like split peas. Lentils are considered the most nutritious of all the foods of the earth. This one lentil biscuit, sir, is equal in nourishing power to a pound and a half of roast beef."

He took from a tin a little cake.

"Again taste," he said.

The little cake was rich and good.

"It is made, sir, of the flour of almonds," said the cook—"fresh, sweet almonds ground into a white powder between two millstones. Such a flour is a finer thing than your flour of wheat, sir."

Then he lifted a great lid and revealed some thirty or forty compartments, one filled with a pink flour, another with a yellow one, a third with a brown one, a fourth with a white, a fifth with a pale green, a sixth with a blue, and so on.

"All these are Chinese flours," he said. "In China, sir, we make over fifty kinds of flour. We make flour out of potatoes, out of sweet potatoes, out of peas, out of cocoanuts, out of millet, out of pulse, out of oats, out of bananas—the fact is, sir, we make flour in China out of everything but wheat, for in China, sir, we eat no bread, and therefore the coarse, dry, tasteless flour of wheat is useless to us."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Stonewall Jackson's Battles.

GOV. ODELL HITS AT ROOSEVELT

Says He and Gov. Higgins Are Trying to Wreck Rep. Party.

AMBITION ANNULS HARMONY

New York Boss is Not Going to Quit. Says President Will Be to Blame If Disaster Comes—Will Have Peace If He Has to Fight For It.

New York, Dec. 22.—Ex-Governor Odell, chairman of the Republican State Committee, yesterday made a statement in which he charged President Roosevelt and Governor Higgins with "a deliberate attempt to wreck the Republican party of this State for their own personal ambitions."

He declared that if disaster ensued they, not he, would be responsible.

Mr. Odell's accusations were a part of his comment on the situation growing out of the contest in the Republican party in this State for the speakership of the New York State assembly. Mr. Odell declared himself in favor of E. A. Merritt, Jr., several days ago.

On Monday last Governor Higgins came out in favor of J. W. Wadsworth, Jr.

Bird Inspired Music.

One of the most pathetic scenes remembered from the experiences of an unhappy genius is given, among other facts, about Beethoven in the "Life of Sir Herbert Stanley Oakeley." The great composer delighted in the outdoor world. He loved a tree, he once declared, with pardonable exaggeration, "better than a man."

After he had become stone deaf he visited the valley of Heiligenstadt, near Vienna, where he had stayed in other and happier days.

"Here," he said to the friend who accompanied him, "I composed my 'Pastoral Symphony,' and here the birds composed with me. Can you hear a yellow hammer?"

"No," wrote his friend on the conversation slate. "And in the symphony I only remember the nightingale, quail and cuckoo."

He believed certain phrases to have been meant for a direct imitation of certain birds, but Beethoven's method was a more poetic one. The birds had inspired him; they had "composed" with him. But they had done it by contributing unconsciously to the joyous harmony of the scene.

Beethoven in answer to his friend's suggestion took the slate and wrote upon it a passage for the flute in the "Brook Scene." That was what the yellow hammer had inspired him to do.

The "Breathing Cave."

In the western part of North Carolina, in the mountains known as the Fork range, is located the most remarkable cavern now known to exist. It is called the Breathing cave and is certainly a most wonderful natural curiosity. During the summer months a current of air comes from it which is so strong that a full grown man cannot walk against it, and in winter the inrush of air is equally strong. At times a most unpleasant odor is emitted from the cave, which is supposed to be from the carcasses of dead animals which have been sucked in and killed by coming in contact with the inner walls of the inanimate, breathing monster. During the spring months, when the change from inhalation to exhalation takes place, the air is filled with pellets of hair, dry bones, small claws, etc., which are supposed to come from creatures sucked into this dry land maelstrom in times passed. Many scientists have visited and revisited the place for the purpose of studying its peculiarities, but still the mystery remains unexplained.

Sympathetic Ointment.

An old time quack compounded his "sympathetic ointment" according to the following prescription: "Take mosse of a ded man's bed, two one.; man's grease, one one.; mummia, man's blood, of each half an one.; linseed oyle, twenty-two one.; oyle of roses, bolearminick, of each an one. Bet them together in a mortar till it be fine lecke an oyntment; keep it in a box." Then all the sick person needed was the weapon with which a man had been stricken. This he anointed with the ointment, pressed to the wound and was well again, or should have been.

GOV. ODELL HITS AT ROOSEVELT

Says He and Gov. Higgins Are Trying to Wreck Rep. Party.

AMBITION ANNULS HARMONY

New York Boss is Not Going to Quit. Says President Will Be to Blame If Disaster Comes—Will Have Peace If He Has to Fight For It.

New York, Dec. 22.—Ex-Governor Odell, chairman of the Republican State Committee, yesterday made a statement in which he charged President Roosevelt and Governor Higgins with "a deliberate attempt to wreck the Republican party of this State for their own personal ambitions."

He declared that if disaster ensued they, not he, would be responsible.

Mr. Odell's accusations were a part of his comment on the situation growing out of the contest in the Republican party in this State for the speakership of the New York State assembly. Mr. Odell declared himself in favor of E. A. Merritt, Jr., several days ago.

On Monday last Governor Higgins came out in favor of J. W. Wadsworth, Jr.

Bird Inspired Music.

One of the most pathetic scenes remembered from the experiences of an unhappy genius is given, among other facts, about Beethoven in the "Life of Sir Herbert Stanley Oakeley." The great composer delighted in the outdoor world. He loved a tree, he once declared, with pardonable exaggeration, "better than a man."

After he had become stone deaf he visited the valley of Heiligenstadt, near Vienna, where he had stayed in other and happier days.

"Here," he said to the friend who accompanied him, "I composed my 'Pastoral Symphony,' and here the birds composed with me. Can you hear a yellow hammer?"

"No," wrote his friend on the conversation slate. "And in the symphony I only remember the nightingale, quail and cuckoo."

He believed certain phrases to have been meant for a direct imitation of certain birds, but Beethoven's method was a more poetic one. The birds had inspired him; they had "composed" with him. But they had done it by contributing unconsciously to the joyous harmony of the scene.

Beethoven in answer to his friend's suggestion took the slate and wrote upon it a passage for the flute in the "Brook Scene." That was what the yellow hammer had inspired him to do.

The "Breathing Cave."

In the western part of North Carolina, in the mountains known as the Fork range, is located the most remarkable cavern now known to exist. It is called the Breathing cave and is certainly a most wonderful natural curiosity. During the summer months a current of air comes from it which is so strong that a full grown man cannot walk against it, and in winter the inrush of air is equally strong. At times a most unpleasant odor is emitted from the cave, which is supposed to be from the carcasses of dead animals which have been sucked in and killed by coming in contact with the inner walls of the inanimate, breathing monster. During the spring months, when the change from inhalation to exhalation takes place, the air is filled with pellets of hair, dry bones, small claws, etc., which are supposed to come from creatures sucked into this dry land maelstrom in times passed. Many scientists have visited and revisited the place for the purpose of studying its peculiarities, but still the mystery remains unexplained.

Sympathetic Ointment.

An old time quack compounded his "sympathetic ointment" according to the following prescription: "Take moose of a ded man's hed, two onc.; man's grease, one onc.; mummia, man's blood, of each half an onc.; linseed oyle, twenty-two onc.; oyle of roses, bolearminick, of each an onc. Bet them together in a mortar till it be fine lecke an oyntment; keep it in a box." Then all the sick person needed was the weapon with which a man had been stricken. This he anointed with the ointment, pressed to the wound and was well again, or should have been.

Of St. Petersburg and Take Possession of the Railroads.

ARREST WORKMEN LEADERS

Only by Use of Military Crews Has the Government Been Able to Move Trains—The Outlook is More Gloomy.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 22.—Since noon yesterday the troops have had possession of the streets, especially those in the industrial sections. The railroad stations are in possession of the military.

Wholesale arrests of the leaders of the workmen were made last night. It is reported that the police include in their captures the members of the second workmen's council. A third council, however, promptly took the place of the second.

Moscow is already cut off from St. Petersburg and with the provinces generally. There was no communication yesterday morning.

Martial law has been proclaimed at Warsaw. Soldiers are now running trains.

MEERSCHAUM PIPES.

A Test by Which to Tell the Genuine From the Spurious.

Once upon a time there was a man who spent eight of the best years of his life coloring a meerschaum pipe, only to find at the end of that period that he had been nursing a piece of "massakopfe" instead of the genuine "ecume de mer." The "massakopfe" is a composition made of the parings of genuine meerschaum and a mineral clay. The parings are triturated to a fine powder, boiled in water and molded into blocks, with or without the addition of clay. Each block is then cut into a bowl, but as it contracts considerably it must be left some time to dry. These bowls are distinguished from the genuine meerschaum by their greater specific gravity, but there is no absolutely certain test by which the real meerschaum can be told from the composition.

In forming a pipe from "ecume de mer" the silicate of magnesia is prepared for the operation by soaking in a composition of wax, oil and fats. The wax and oil absorbed by the meerschaum are the cause of the color produced by smoking. The heat of the burning tobacco causes the wax and fatty substances to pass through the stages of a dry distillation, and, becoming associated with the products of the distillation of the tobacco, they are diffused through the substances of the bowl, producing those gradations of tint which are so much prized. In some cases the bowls are artificially colored by dipping them, before being soaked in wax, in a solution of sulphate of iron, either alone or mixed with dragon's blood.

Good meerschaum is soft enough to be indented by the thumb nail. It yields readily to the knife, especially after having been wetted. There are various densities. Some kinds sink in water; others float on the surface. Those of medium density are preferred by the pipe maker, for the light varieties are porous and even cavernous. Many judges assume that the heavier kinds are spurious, but there is no absolute proof that such is the case. A negative test may be mentioned. The composition bowls never exhibit those little blemishes which result from the presence of foreign bodies in the natural meerschaum. Therefore if a blemish occur in a meerschaum bowl, which is very frequently the case, the genuineness of the bowl is rendered most probable. But as blemishes do not show until after the bowl has been used for some time the test is not of much value.—New York Press.

A Pertinent Question.

Senator Beveridge was describing a precocious little girl.

"She showed her precocity the other day," he said, "by a question that she asked me.

"I had said to her in the course of an examination in mental arithmetic:

"'How old would a person be who was born in 1901?'

"She smiled and asked:

"'Was the person a man or a woman?'"

SCORPIONS AND SPIDERS.

Points In Common Between These Loathsome Animals.

"Between the spiders and scorpions, those grayish, lobster-like foes of every living thing, which lurk in old walls and beneath the debris of ruins, silent, patient, giving the sting that kills and then sucking the victim's blood, there are points in common," writes F. G. Afialo, the traveler and writer of London. "This very habit of sucking blood is shared by them, for the scorpion does not tear its victim's flesh with pinchers, like a crayfish, but sucks the juices through a small and tubular mouth not unlike that of spiders. Both of them breathe through lung openings in the abdomen, and in each the number of legs is eight, not six, as in insects. The latter class, which form the food of the smaller spiders, are erroneously regarded as safe if they have wings to fly. Even in England there are spiders which run so swiftly and leap with such precision that, apart from the aid of webs, few but the largest insects are secure from their attacks. In Australia there are parachuting spiders which sail obliquely down from the tree tops, and these must be deadly to encounter. Let us give the spider its due. Even those who willingly concede its diligence grudge it the undeniable attribute of cleanliness.

"Few created animals are more loathsome than the scorpion. There is a graceful beauty in the deadliest snake, in the fierce tiger, even in the banded wasps and hornets, but in the scorpion there is nothing but foulness. The creature's bite varies in its results, possibly according to the condition of the scorpion itself, but more probably according to that of the person bitten. I know of one case of a man, an American, who was repeatedly bitten by scorpions without on any occasion suffering more than a few hours of discomfort. In Morocco I have seen lads handle scorpions without a sign of fear, letting them crawl on the palms of their hands, even laying them on their eyes, and all for a quarter of a dollar! I was told at the time that the skin of the open hand stretched tight gave the scorpion no purchase with which to get its weapons in play.

"What was, however, far more remarkable was the patent indifference with which a gang of Moorish masons went to work barefooted to pull down an old building in the full knowledge that every blow of their picks on the falling walls set fresh scorpions free to writhe over their feet and legs, for they were buried in the accumulating rubbish almost up to the knees. To their way of thinking the creature's reputation was more evil than its bite."

The Indian Pachofsha.

A pachofsha is a feast and a part of the incantation and superstitious ceremony conducted over the sick by the lower class of ignorant Indians.

When a man is thought to be sick enough to require the services of a doctor he is put into a hut, and for three days no one except the doctor sees him. The doctor goes into the woods and gathers herbs, from which he prepares a potion for the sick man and then keeps a lonely vigil with him. At the end of the third day, if the patient is not improved, the order is given to prepare a pachofsha. Corn and meat, either beef, pork or game, are put in a large kettle and stewed until the corn is soft.

All the relatives of the sick man are entitled to attend, and they gather around the kettle for the feast. The sick man is brought out and served first. He is fed as much as his stomach can hold, and the others then turn in and devour the remainder of the stew. When this is concluded a bonfire is built and lighted, and the crowd circles around and dances to the time of a weird chant. After this, if the sick man does not show signs of getting better, nothing more is done for him, and he dies or gets well by act of Providence.—Oklahoma Times-Journal.

Loyal to His Friends.

John A. Sutter, on whose land gold was first discovered in California in 1848, was always loyal to his friends. "During the winter of 1852 Sacramento was a marsh, and drainage ditches had just been dug," says Thomas E. Farish's "Gold Hunters of California." "One evening Sutter and a friend had been indulging a little too freely in the cup, and they were taking a stroll before retiring for the night, when the friend inadvertently fell into one of the newly dug canals. 'I cannot pull you out,' said Sutter regretfully as he looked down at his less lucky friend, 'but I can come down and sit with you.' And he did."

Are Recommended by Committee in Its Report to Congress.

WILL GUARD AGAINST FRAUDS

Various Safeguards Will be Proposed Prohibit Naturalization Only on Certain Times—Cost of Work to be Paid by Subjects.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—The report of the Naturalization Committee is out, and recommends a uniform certificate of naturalization, and a bureau to have charge.

Half of the fees for naturalization shall be turned into the treasury, thus producing a revenue of more than double the cost of the work. No one will be admitted to citizenship that does not propose to reside here permanently, and who does not know English.

No naturalization will be conferred within thirty days preceding a Presidential election. The fee will be $7.

MODERN FOOTBALL.

It Comes From the Florentines, Who Got It From Greece.

Did modern football, the Rugby game, travel to England from the Italy of the renaissance and does its history reach back to ancient Greece? A recent writer says: "Probably not more than a few votaries of Rugby football are aware that we have to thank Florentine athletes for the invention of the game and for its introduction into Great Britain. Rugby school was founded somewhere about 1567. It was one of the direct results of what has been called the Florentine or Tuscan fever in England, which set in late in the Italian renaissance. Not only did men of letters come over and settle in England's centers of learning and create others, but many Florentines versed in the theory and practice of polite culture came as well. The game of il calcio came to Florence by way of Greece. Something of the sort had figured among the less important games at Olympia. The principal Florentine ground was the Piazza di Santa Croce, where upon the wall of the Palazzo Giulio Parrigi is still to be seen the disk from which the line dividing the ground was drawn across the open square. The ball was of leather, containing an inflated bladder, and apparently was the exact size, weight and shape of the Rugby ball of today.

"Il calcio consisted of a friendly contest between two equal sides of players called schiera azzura and schiera rossa—blues and reds. The number of players varied according to the size of the ground or the importance of the encounter. In the Piazza di Santa Croce the sides were twenty to twenty-seven strong, while on the public open sports ground at Peretola they totaled as many as sixty each. Originally the players were required to be of noble or gentle blood or such as had gained distinction and rank in the profession of arms. Each man had to be of unblemished reputation and of graceful figure and possessed of accomplished manners.

"In addition to the actual players were presidents, standard bearers, judges, an umpire, pages and other officials, all 'without reproach, worthy of the city and courteous in manner.' The costumes of the players were tight fitting drawers and tunics of silk, with feathered caps, all richly embroidered in gold and silver. Leather shoes were worn. The teams were divided into four classes: Forwards, whose places were near the dividing line and whose work was to keep the ball in play; halfbacks, stationed behind the forwards, in order to return the ball to play; three-quarter backs, who were strong kickers and played straight on the ball, and goal keepers, placed at the flags, or boundary, to stop the ball passing."

GERMANY'S BLACK LETTER.

Comparison of Texts Used In Printing In the Fatherland.

"It is remarkable that so practical a people as the Germans should continue to use their blind black letter," says Jerome Hart. "The German text is ugly, and when printed from small type on dingy paper with high speed presses, as is the case with most daily newspapers, it is difficult to decipher. Ever since the days of Cadmus alphabets have been designed to convey ideas, and those alphabets which transfer thought with the most quickness, clearness and precision are the best. Considered from these standpoints the German alphabet is one of the worst. That it is a failure is shown unconsciously in many ways. Advertisers, for example, have no sentiment about them. They want to reach the reader and reach him quickly. Therefore nearly all the display advertisements in German newspapers are printed in Latin characters.

"So, too, with the commercial and financial pages. Stockbrokers and merchants have no time to waste in deciphering badly printed German text. Therefore the commercial page in the German dailies is now nearly always set up in Roman type. Circus advertisements, theater placards and advertising posters generally, the names of streets on the corner signs, the lettering on cars and omnibuses, even temporary signs, such as 'No Thoroughfare' or 'Street Closed,' you nearly always see in Latin characters.

"Another proof of the inferiority of the German text is the fact that nearly all German scientific works are printed in Roman. This has been the case for years, but it has had little effect on the printing of books of a general nature. Bismarck did much to retard this needed improvement, for he clung stubbornly to the German text and frequently sent back books which were printed in Roman, refusing to read them."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

FLOUR IN CHINA.

There It Is Made of Almost Everything Except Wheat.

The Chinese cook stuck the end of an ivory chopstick into a small brown biscuit.

"Taste, sir," he said.

The biscuit was warm, crisp, rich; it was light, well salted, nutritious—a biscuit, in a word, of peculiar excellence.

"This biscuit, sir, is made of flour of lentils," said the Chinaman. "You know lentils? Little green pellets slightly flattened like split peas. Lentils are considered the most nutritious of all the foods of the earth. This one lentil biscuit, sir, is equal in nourishing power to a pound and a half of roast beef."

He took from a tin a little cake.

"Again taste," he said.

The little cake was rich and good.

"It is made, sir, of the flour of almonds," said the cook—"fresh, sweet almonds ground into a white powder between two millstones. Such a flour is a finer thing than your flour of wheat, sir."

Then he lifted a great lid and revealed some thirty or forty compartments, one filled with a pink flour, another with a yellow one, a third with a brown one, a fourth with a white, a fifth with a pale green, a sixth with a blue, and so on.

"All these are Chinese flours," he said. "In China, sir, we make over fifty kinds of flour. We make flour out of potatoes, out of sweet potatoes, out of peas, out of cocoanuts, out of millet, out of pulse, out of oats, out of bananas—the fact is, sir, we make flour in China out of everything but wheat, for in China, sir, we eat no bread, and therefore the coarse, dry, tasteless flour of wheat is useless to us."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Coughing Spell Caused Death.

"Harry Duckwell, aged 25 years, choked to death early yesterday morning at his home in the presence of his wife and child. He contracted a slight cold a few days ago and paid but little attention to it. Yesterday morning he was seized with a fit of coughing which continued for some time. His wife sent for a physician, but before he could arrive another coughing spell came on and Duckwell died from suffocation.—St. Louis Globe Democrat, December 1st. 1901." Ballard's Horehound Syrup would have saved him. 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

A Postage Stamp Dilemma.

Former President Salomon of Haiti had his troubles with the postage stamps of that disturbed republic. General Salomon objected to his own portrait being placed on the stamps, so a local artist was commissioned to design a female head representing Liberty. But the people mistook this for a portrait of Mrs. Salomon and objected. They said, "The president would not have his portrait on our stamps, but he put his wife's on instead." Salomon admitted the resemblance, and finally he consented to use his own portrait to adorn the stamps. At about the time the new issue was made Salomon had been deposed by his enemies, who finally decided not to go to the expense of issuing new stamps, but to use the Salomon stamps, affixing them upside down. By this device all concerned were satisfied, and from that time forward all letters bearing the stamps the right way up were said to have been charged double postage on delivery, just as though no postage had been paid.

LaGrippe and Pneumonia.

Pneumonia often follows lagrippe, but never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. It cures lagrippe, coughs and prevents pneumonia and consumption. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Mr. G. Vacher, 157 Osgood street, Chicago, writes: "My wife had a severe case of lagrippe three years ago and it left her with a terrible cough. She tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. A 50-cent bottle cured her cough entirely." Refuse substitutes. J. W. McCollum & Company.

Hard Ones Too.

Little Willie—What's the name of the feller what calls on yer sister? Little Johnny—I don't know yet. Pop calls him something different every time he comes.—Chicago Journal.

Love.

Love is an upward tendency of human nature. It is dignifying, ennobling, and for that reason it imposes upon individuals who experience it new obligations.

A Proportionate Income.

Brush—So Pinxit is painting miniatures? How is he getting on? Palette—Oh, he's making a miniature living.—Washington Post.

When a woman is out shopping for Christmas she is seldom in a hurry.

The New Year will soon be here and good resolutions for thirty days at least are now in order.

The little folks are the ones who enjoy Christmas, and it takes but little to make them happy. Don't forget them.

There is no doubting the fact that Gainesville will have many more new residences erected next year and it is quite certain that many houses for rent will be built.

There is nothing more enjoyable to the people who come to Florida for their health than the aromatic odor of the pine trees. Groves should be preserved in every locality.

It is calculated that in London alone about 4,000 persons regularly make a living by begging, that the average income for each amounts to $7.50 a week, or together, $1,500,000 a year.

The future farmer must be educated. If our boys cannot attend the agricultural college a systematic course of agricultural reading is possible during the winter evenings and the time could not be better employed.

While on his way back to South Africa General Cronje stopped off in London recently and, giving his impressions of this country, said: "Very big, very fine, very quick." Yes, our country is indeed quick. One might almost say sudden.

There is still no clue to the Miami murderer of Mrs. Suggs, and it looks as though another dark and bloody deed would go unpunished in Dade county. The officers and people will do all in their power to run the monster down, but there is little to work on.

The railroads are looking forward to a much better business for 1906. But the question is, will the people get a better service? There is need of better trunk line facilities, so that long hauls of freight will not be so long delayed. It would seem that the railroads might make many improvements.

THE BUCKMAN LAW.

The Jacksonville Metropolis has the following concerning the decision of the Supreme Court in the Buckman school law matter, and also pays a high compliment to Hon. H. H. Buckman:

"The decision of the Supreme Court, as announced this week in The Metropolis, in the case of F. J. Moodie, et al. vs. the State of Florida, sustaining the constitutionality of the Buckman school law as enacted by the last Legislature, is the final settlement of a momentous question and relieves the Board of Control of further embarrassment in its performance of duties as specified in the law. This board can now proceed to the expenditure of funds in the erection of college buildings at Gainesville and the removal of State school property from one place to another or the sale of it for the benefit of the new work to be done.

"It is indeed fortunate that this point of law has been judicially determined so early in the proceedings of the great work of transformation, as it removes a doubt from the minds of the people and establishes the legality of the law and the Board of Control, under whose supervision the act of the Legislature is to be put in force.

"It does more; it shows that H. H. Buckman of this (Duval) county was right in his contention in abolishing and consolidating of State collegiate institutes as a means of relief of the tax-payers and for the betterment of the school system of the State. One or two well-managed and well-patronized colleges are better than a half-dozen poorly managed and poorly patronized ones for the tax-payers of the State who were expected to pay the deficiences of each one annually.

"Mr. Buckman is a lawyer and this law framed by him and passed, through his efforts, while a member of the State Legislature, will be very gratifying to him as well as to his numerous friends to know that the highest judicial tribunal in the State has sustained him and his work. He proves his fitness for State Senator to which he aspires."

The Ocala Banner, published by Hon. Frank Harris, who was a member of the board of trustees of the University, also has the following sensible article in a recent issue of his paper, which has the true sentiment:

"The Supreme Court of the State of Florida, without a dissenting opinion, has declared the Buckman bill to be constitutional and this much mooted question is now settled and we hope will never again be subjected to any disturbing influence.

"If Florida provides a public school in every country district, a high school at every county seat, a university for boys and a university for girls at convenient localities, she will have done her duty towards the youth of the State and this is what she is now doing.

"Florida, in the last twenty years, has not made much progress along the line of higher education, but now having her feet planted on solid ground, we hope her two universities will grow into proportions that will become the pride of Floridians and will ever be pointed to with love and veneration."

It is the opinion of many that the University of Florida will now go ahead and make a name of which every citizen can feel proud, and as our entire school system is founded on the plan of the best in the country, educational interests in Florida will make rapid strides upward.

None but the initiated know the accuracy required in a printing office. The average reader who detects a misspelled word or letter upside down feels that his work upon earth is not accomplished until he has called the attention of the overworked editor to the glaring defect. He does not notice the thousands and tens of thousands of letters that are in place, or the multitude of words correctly spelled, but his eagle eye is glued on the one that is out of place.—Fraternal Record.

NEW STATES.

The Statehood bills for Oklahoma and Indian Territory and for Arizona and New Mexico will in all probability be among the measures that will get a hearing in a few weeks. There is a big delegation of Oklahoma boomers and Indian Territory people in Washington now in the interests of their bill. They are perfectly willing for joint Statehood and in all probability the Hamilton bill, which comes the nearest to their wishes, will be passed. About the only thing they do object to is any provision for total abstinence in the new State. They say that the Government, being the guardian of the Indians, can naturally do with them as it likes, but they decidedly object to coming into the Union with a prohibition proviso applying to all the white people in the State as well as the Indians. On the other hand, the bill for joint Statehood between New Mexico and Arizona will in all probability have a harder road to travel. Senator Beveridge has made a personal measure of the joint Statehood bill, and has interested the President in it to the extent of having him endorse the measure in the late message. But at the same time it is doubtful if there will be any further active support for the bill from the White House. There are no delegations from either Territory in Washington in the interests of the bill, and the anxiety for joint Statehood, if any exists, is almost entirely on the side of New Mexico.

The Christmas edition of The Gainesville Elevator is one of the best gotten up of any we have received so far. It is well printed, the advertising artistically displayed, and the selections by the editorial staff a credit to the writers. The issue is perfectly satisfactory.

The work of improving East Main street, North, has commenced and when this broad thoroughfare is put in good condition it will be one of the handsomest in the city. Good streets and good sidewalks is all that Gainesville needs to make it a beauty.

Ocala recently went wet at the election held in that city, and The Evening Star of Wednesday says that "never in the history of the oldest inhabitant did Ocala experience as wet a time, with practically no rain, as last night and this morning. The atmosphere was reeking with moisture and condensed into huge drops all over the glass and iron stores and public places."

Torture of a Preacher.

The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore, pastor of the Baptist church of Harpersville, N. Y., will interest you. He says: "I suffered agonies, because of a persistent cough, resulting from the grip. I had to sleep sitting up in bed. I tried many remedies without relief until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which entirely cured my cough and saved me from consumption." A grand cure for diseased conditions of throat and lungs. At all druggists; price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottles free.

The Last American King.

Maximilian and his followers were shut up in Queratero. Many powerful influences were at work to save him. Seward also did his best. But he made little or no effort to escape. If he had failed as an emperor he could at least face disaster with the courage and the dignity of a right princely nature. Betrayed by the infamous Lopez, tried before a court martial of boys and ordered to be shot, he spent his last days in the discharge of all the obligations of friendship and courtesy. A false report of the death of Carlotta being brought to him in prison he said simply, "One less tie to bind me to the world!" Led forth to his execution and told to stand between two of his generals who were likewise condemned, he surrendered the place of honor to General Miramon in recognition of his courage. The rattle of the muskets marked perhaps the end of all monarchy in the new world. But the bitterest critic of democracy could scarcely desire a gentler figure than Maximilian's to stand before the eyes of Americans as the last representative of aristocracy and of kingship on this continent.—William Garrott in Atlantic.

Furious Fighting.

"For seven years," writes Geo. W. Hoffman of Harper, Wash., "I had a bitter battle with chronic stomach and liver trouble, but at last I won, and cured my diseases by the use of Electric Bitters. I unhesitatingly recommend them to all, and don't intend in the future to be without them in the house. They are certainly a wonderful medicine, to have cured such a bad case as mine." Sold under guarantee to do the same for you, by all druggists at 50c a bottle. Try them today.

She Reasoned It Out.

Ethel—Mamma, if a little boy is a lad, why isn't a big boy a ladder? Mamma—For the same reason, I suppose, that, although a little doll is a doll, a big doll is not a dollar. Ethel (reflectively)—That's so. My big doll was $2.—Kansas City Journal.

His Hard Luck.

Benevolent Old Lady (to one of the unemployed)—Poor man! What have you done to your hand? Unemployed—Broke my knuckles, mum, knockin' at people's doors askin' for work.

In order to love mankind we must not expect too much of them.—Helvetius.

DON'T NEGLECT A COLD.

Neglected Colds Lead to Consumption.

How Pretty Miss Powell Was Restored to Health by Pe-ru-na.

Miss Lillian Powell, Aurora, Ind., writes:

"Last spring I caught a severe cold from getting my feet wet and being out in the rain, and in a day I had a most miserable cold, but I neglected it, thinking it would soon leave me. But it hung to me for two weeks, when I felt something must be done, as my condition was serious.

"I had heard so much about Peruna and in its praise that I bought a bottle and began taking it regularly. I was gratified to find that in a week the cold and cough was broken up, and three weeks' treatment completely restored my usual good health."—Lillian Powell.

How Consumption Develops.

Nine cases of consumption out of ten occur in this way:

A person catches cold. The cold is not properly cured, and another cold is caught.

This cold is dilly-dallied with, either by no treatment whatever or some treatment that is ineffectual, and the cold continues.

Then another cold is caught and a cough develops. Cough syrups are resorted to, but they give only temporary relief.

By and by the patient gets tired of taking medicines and cough syrups and gives up in despair.

The cold continues to develop and the cough grows worse.

Then the doctor is called in, only to discover that the patient is in the first stages of consumption.

It was just in this way that Miss Powell, of Aurora, Ind., became sick. She caught a cold, and not considering it serious, neglected it, thinking as many others do, that it would "wear off."

However, it clung to her tenaciously, and in two weeks she found her health in a serious condition.

Fortunately, Peruna had been brought to her notice, and she took a course of this remedy before it was too late.

In a week the cough and cold were broken, and a three weeks' treatment completely restored her to health.

This is what Peruna is doing all the while. Not a day, and probably not an hour passes in which some one does not have a similar experience with Peruna.

Cure the Slight Colds and Avoid Consumption.

The first step toward consumption is a cold. The next step is a failure to cure it promptly. The third step is the development of catarrh, which gradually becomes chronic. The fourth step, the catarrh begins to spread from the head to the throat, then to the bronchial tubes, and finally into the lungs. It is then consumption in the first stage.

At any time during the progress of catarrh, from the first onset of the cold to its final settlement in the lungs, Peruna can be relied upon to stop the disease. If you have taken a cold, buy Peruna without delay. One bottle in the beginning will do more good than a half dozen bottles after the catarrh has fastened itself on the lungs.

Thousands of Testimonials.

We have on file thousands of testimonials from people who have been cured of catarrh of the lungs by Peruna. We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements we are receiving every month. No other physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

The Requisite of Beauty.

The first requisite of beauty is a clear complexion. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup clears a sallow, blotched complexion, as it stimulates the liver and bowels, and the eyes become bright and clear. You owe it to your friends to take it if your complexion is bad. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and it is very pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. J. W. McCollum & Company.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

WILL HAVE FINE BUILDING.

First National Bank Will Occupy One of the Best Buildings in the State.

Work is progressing nicely upon the building recently vacated, and which will again be occupied by the First National Bank.

This building is being thoroughly overhauled, and extensive operations are being made. The two rooms will be made into one, which will afford a fine, commodious lobby. The floor will be of stone, the furniture will comprise the best there is for the purpose, and altogether the new First National Bank will be something of which our people may well feel proud.

The success of the First National Bank is a matter of record, and the efficient management is to be congratulated. It is one of the most solid institutions of the kind in the State, and retains a reputation which financiers regard as absolutely safe. The success of this bank is due altogether to the conservatism of those in charge of its affairs, and in whom the public have manifested the greatest confidence.

THE FALL LETTUCE.

Shipments About Over, But Movement Will be Renewed About Jan. 10.

The shipment of fall lettuce, which has been quite heavy, is about over and the growers seem perfectly satisfied with their returns.

A prominent commission man remarked to The Sun reporter Thursday that the plant had realized well in the markets of the North and the lettuce crop this season had been a profitable one.

"I don't know how it is," remarked this man, "but the lettuce from the Gainesville section seems to be superior, and always commands a better price. It reaches the market in better condition, and can be selected from a large stock as being fresher and finer looking." The protected lettuce is rapidly maturing, and shipment will begin about January 10th. This plant seems to be thriving vigorously and promises to yield well. The grower who has protected lettucce may expect good returns.

HAD A BIG HUNT.

W. A. Strickland and Party Killed Many Deer and Other Wild Game.

Among those who came to this city Friday was Hon. W. A. Strickland of Paradise, one of the oldest and most widely known residents of that section.

Mr. Strickland states that he has just returned from a big hunting trip into California swamp, LaFayette county, with his brother, C. C. Strickland of Hague, Claude Stokes and Frank E Celion. The party was favored with "big luck," having killed seven deer, to say nothing of quantities of wild turkey and other game. Of the seven deer killed Mr. Strickland states that he came out victorious, having shot four. He is one of the most accurate marksmen in the county, and very seldom fails his mark.

Failed.

All efforts have failed to find a better remedy for coughs, colds and lung troubles than Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough, heals the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. J. N. Patterson, Nashua, Iowa, writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least half a dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two-thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world." J. W. McCollum & Company.

Remarkable Cure.

"I was much afflicted with sciatica," writes Ed C. Nud, Iowaville, Sedgwick Co., Kan., "going about on crutches and suffering a deal of pain. I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, which relieved me. I used three 50c bottles. It is the greatest liniment I ever used. Have recommended it to a number of persons. All express themselves as being benefited by it. I now walk without crutches, able to perform a great deal of light labor on the farm." 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Rudyard Kipling.

"Mr. Kipling," writes a fellow passenger to Cape Town with him, "is a small, well knit man with a finely shaped head and a keen, happy face, full of that alertness which one would naturally anticipate from his writings. He has a thick brown mustache, very slightly touched with gray, and heavy dark eyebrows, and he always wears gold rimmed spectacles. He dresses comfortably and neatly and is guilty of none of those extravagant untidinesses usually indulged in by distinguished poets and artists. He did not display a great deal of energy on board. Once or twice he was seen playing rubber quoits with Mrs. Kipling. More often he was pacing the deck, talking or sitting quietly reading. Sometimes he wrote in the smoking room."

Cured Paralysis.

W. F. Baily, P. O. True, Texas, writes: "My wife had been suffering five years with paralysis in her arm, when I was persuaded to use Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured her alright. I have also used it for old sores, frostbites and skin eruptions. It does the work." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Breach of Discipline.

In February, 1748, Lord Robert Bertie, third son of Robert, first duke of Lancaster, afterward general in the army and colonel of the Second regiment of foot guards, received a reprimand, such reprimand being conveyed to him by the Duke of Cumberland's aid-de-camp. His military offense was that he had blown his nose, as he relieved guard, beneath his grace's window in St. James palace; this, and this only, was all he had done.—Chambers' Journal.

A Fearful Fate.

It is a fearful fate to have to endure the terrible torture of piles. "I can truthfully say," writes Harry Colson of Masonville, Ia., "that for blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles, Bucklen's Arnica Salve is the best cure made." Also best for cuts, burns and injuries. 25c at all druggists.

No Fire Within.

Times have changed. Our fathers for some strange reason preferred a cold meeting house to one which was warmed by artificial heat. When a stove was put into the Old South church, Boston, in 1783, says J. H. Crandon, a newspaper of contemporary date contained this significant lament:

Extinct the sacred fire of love,
Our zeal grown cold and dead,
In the house of God we fixed a stove
To warm us in their stead

Keep Your Head Clear

And your stomach free from Indigestion if you would be happy with your family and your fellow-man.

The surest thing on earth to get a man's system "out of whack" is heavy, soggy bread, which is caused by several reasons: First, the material may not be good; second, the cooking may be poor. The best flour in the world will make the heaviest bread if improperly mixed or cooked. WE USE THE BEST FLOUR and our "long suit" is knowing how to mix and bake it. Our bread does not cost any more than home-made, and in many instances it is so much more palatable.

LIFE IN THE MIDDLE AGES.

The Way In Sickness and Old Age Was Pitiable Indeed.

Concerning the life of poor people during the middle ages a writer says: "In those bygone days of feudal rule the dwellers in the country were almost invariably serfs, bound to the estate on which they were born and under the absolute rule of the owner. They were possibly better fed than at the present day, for butter, cheese and eggs were plentiful, and the fertile soil of Italy supplied them with abundance of fruit and vegetables. The poor man held his plot of ground by the tenure of so many days in the year of service to his lord. But in sickness or old age his case was very pitiable, and we have a curious proof of this in a letter written in 1459 by the mother of Filippo Struzzi, at Florence. She is speaking of some old people on her estate in the country: 'Piero and Monna Cilia are both alive and infirm. I have overflowed the field for next year, and, as I must put it in order, those two old people, if they do not die, must go and beg. Heaven will provide.' This is no passing thought of the good lady, who was pious and highly esteemed, a friend of the Medici, but it is a firm resolution in her own mind. A few months later she writes to her son: 'Piero is still alive, so he must put up with it and go away and beg. It would be best, of course, if heaven will take him.' Apparently a merciful Providence had already provided for Monna Cilia."

MARKS OF LONGEVITY.

Physical Indications That You May Study For Yourself.

Every person carries about with him the physical indications of his longevity. A long lived person may be distinguished from a short lived person at sight. In many instances a physician may look at the hand of a patient and tell whether he will live or die.

The primary conditions of longevity are that the heart, lungs and digestive organs as well as the brain should be large. If these organs are large the trunk will be long and the limbs comparatively short. The person will appear tall in sitting and short in standing. The hand will have a long and somewhat heavy palm and short fingers. The brain will be deeply seated, as shown by the orifice of the ear being low. The blue hazel or brown hazel eye, as showing an intermission of temperament, is a favorable indication. The nostrils being large, open and free indicates large lungs. A pinched and half closed nostril indicates small or weak lungs.

These are general points of distinction from those of short lived tendencies, but of course subject to the usual individual exceptions. Still, it is well acknowledged that the characteristics noted are expressions of inherent potentiality, which have been proved on the basis of abundant statistical evidence.—Medical Record.

An Editor's Toast.

At an editorial convention one of the country editors offered the following toast:

"To save an editor from starvation take his newspaper and pay him for it promptly. To save him from bankruptcy advertise in his paper liberally. To save him from despair send him every item of news of which you can get hold. To save him from profanity write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and send it in as early as possible. To save him from mistakes bury him. Dead people are the only ones that never make mistakes. Newspaper readers would do well to remember that there are no perfect people, editors or readers."

Wrinkles.

If our forehead is rigid with wrinkles before forty, what will it be at seventy? There is one consoling thought about these marks of time and trouble—the death angel almost always erases them. Even the extremely aged in death often wear a smooth and peaceful brow, thus leaving our last memory of them calm and tranquil. But our business is with life. Scowling is a silent kind of scolding. It shows that our souls need sweetening. For pity's sake let us take a sadiron or a glad iron or a smoothing tool of some sort and straighten the creases out of our faces before they become indelibly engraved upon our faces.

Kindly Fruits.

The expression in the prayer book, "Kindly fruits of the earth," has for most persons no definite meaning on account of the difference in significance now attached to the word kindly from that used when the expression was first written. The word kindly in that connection meant as nearly as possible "of its kind," and the expression "kindly fruits of the earth" meant "the fruits of the earth each after its kind."

He who speaks for any length of time in the presence of others without flattering his hearers awakens their displeasure.—Goethe.

Sincerity in the face of the soul, ... examination is the mark.—Taylor.
